2012 ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING OF FCCWA. The AGM will be held on 10 December. In this issue of Cat Call will be nomination forms for Governing Council, and Membership renewal forms. There will be five positions to fill on Governing Council next year.

Governing Council Nomination forms are due at the FCCWA Office by Friday 26 October 2012

Membership renewals for 2013 are due at the FCCWA office by 1 November 2012.

Club Affiliation Fees for 2013 are due at the FCCWA Office by 1 November 2012.

GROUP 3 SPLIT FOR FCCWA CAT OF THE YEAR AWARDS FOR 2012 is: male and female for entire, neuter and spey for desexed and male and female for kittens.

DUE BY DATE FOR KITTEN REGISTRATIONS. Concern has been expressed that 84 days (12 weeks) is too late for breeders to register their kittens. Effective from 1 September 2012 - kittens must be registered within 70 days (10 weeks) of their birth. After this time the usual late fees will apply. This means that the due by date matches the earliest that kittens should leave the breeder's home. We thank members for their cooperation.

A reminder that Breeders may ask the FCCWA Registrars to amend the colour of kittens, free of charge, up to 6 months old.

A reminder also, that there has always been a $10 charge for Transfer of Breeding cats/kittens.

PRESENTATION OF SHOW CATS

Exhibitors, please be aware that several visiting judges this year have commented on the presentation of some of our cats at shows. The Show is a beauty competition and all the entrants, both long hair and shorthair, MUST be groomed with clean coats free of knots, clean eyes and ears. In particular they must not have any evidence of FLEAS or flea dirt. Judges have been very critical and disappointed when they are presented with a dirty cat or one that has fleas, which has happened this year. If you need advice on how to prepare your cat for the shows please ask us in the Office and we will put you in touch with someone who will help.

- 4.2 The Breeder shall breed for the health, quality, temperament and the betterment of the breed. It is the responsibility of the Breeder to ensure that a prospective new owner who wishes to either breed or show the cat/kitten is provided with the best potential show or breeding cat/kitten available. Cats/kittens with breed faults or sub-standard animals SHOULD NOT be sold for breeding and showing.
- 4.3 Breeders shall maintain the best standard of health and care for their cats and keep only the number of cats which can properly be cared for and protected from illness and stress related problems.
- 4.4 Breeding cats shall be immunised regularly and tested against diseases
- 4.5 It is the responsibility of the Breeder to ensure that the animal will be given a permanent home and not passed on without due consideration for its welfare.

(e.g. Pet Shops) Cats and kittens may be offered for sale at a Show but must not be sold and removed from the Show by new owners. All sales of cats and kittens should be conducted at the Registered Breeders premises. Any Members breeding and/or selling to the export market will have their membership revoked.
- 4.9 The Pedigree, Veterinary Immunisation Certificate and Certificate of Registration are the birthright of the cat or kitten and are not to be withheld for extra payment. The price must include these whether the animal is sold for breeding, showing, or as a pet.
- 4.10 Transfer of ownership of the cat/kitten must be effected within 30 days of the gift or sale to a new Owner.
- 4.11 Transfer may be made for "Breeding" or "Non-Breeding". "Non-Breeding" means that should the cat produce kittens, none of the progeny can be registered. The kitten is to be desexed. It is the responsibility of the Breeder to explain to the new owner the meaning of the "Non-Breeding" status. It is also important to point out to the new owner that, by signing the transfer application form, they are signing a contract to have the cat/kitten desexed.

FCCWA Code of Conduct for all members

The owner of the queen should make these arrangements well in advance and forewarn the owner of the stud of the impending visit of the queen. It is the responsibility of the stud's owner to witness at least three matings during the time that the queen is at stud. The stud service fee is payable and the completed certificate of service is to be provided at the time of service unless other terms have been agreed between the two parties.

- 4.18 No kitten should be sold until at least 10/12 weeks of age and the Breeder must ensure that the kitten is of sufficient maturity to cope with the move to a new home.
- 4.19 All cats/kittens should be immunised against Feline Infectious Enteritis, Feline Rhinotracheitis and Feline Calicivirus (Fe3 Vaccination)

5 Breaches of the Code of Conduct

Show Scene

There have been three shows run by FCCWA affiliated clubs since the last Cat Call. All three have been well supported and hopefully all participants enjoyed themselves.

Birman Rex and Others Cat Club – Monday 4 June 2012

This two ring show was run on the Monday public holiday due to a clash with a COAWA show on the Sunday. A total of 94 cats registered for the show, with a reasonable proportion of dedicated show enthusiasts having been to both the COAWA show and FCCWA show. We were lucky enough to have two visiting international judges who were in Australia on their way to the ACF National in Melbourne. Lucy Arends-Wagner from the South African Cat Council judged in ring 1 and FIFe judge, Lone Lund, from Denmark, judged in Ring 2. Lone stepped in at the last minute with the scheduled judge having to withdraw after a family emergency. The ACF's ILO (International Liaison Officer) Lesley Morgan did an amazing job to not only source such an excellent replacement but to get her here in time for the show. Supreme in Ring One went to Siamese Cindylin Pegasus owned by Rod Pattinson, and Ring Two Persian Shawtop I Know Who My Daddy Is owned by Penny Kelly

Oriental Shorthair Cat Club "Christmas in July" - Sunday 1 July 2012

This three ring show had a distinct Christmas flavour with the hall and cages decorated with tinsel, bells and santas. A total of 123 cats were entered for the show which created a few headaches with set up as there recently has been a decline in the number of available tables at High Wycombe. However, some clever numbering by show secretary Sue Game meant that the cages just fitted the available tables even if it did mean that Group 1 and Group 2 cats were mixed in together. The only other alternative would have been to put all cats in single cages which would have been very unpleasant for some of the larger Group 1 cats. In Ring 1 we had TICA judge Steve Savant from the US and it was interesting watching him bringing out all of his top 5 cats to make his final selection in each group. Rings 2 and 3 were made up of our talented local judges – Jane Horstman, Wayne Raftopolous, Betty Payne, Pamela Lanigan and Christine Selby (COAWA). Apart from the Christmassy theme, another notable feature of this show was Kirsty Connell and Suzanne Bolland's use of the Thermomix in the kitchen to produce a range of delicious freshly-made pizzas and other food. Supreme in Ring One went to Russian Tachali Countessa Tatiana owned by Maree Carle, Supreme in Ring Two went to Russian Tachali Contessa Arina and Supreme in Ring 3 went to Siamese Cindylin Pegasus owned by Rod Pattinson.

Birman Rex and Others Cat Club assisted by the British Shorthair Cat Club – Sunday 15 July 2012

The newly created British Shorthair Cat Club celebrated their arrival in the form of rosettes cheerfully emblazoned with Union Jacks. A total of 117 cats (including 24 Russians) were entered in this 2 ring event. Judges for this show were FIFe judges Charles Spijker and Alexey Shchuki from the Netherlands who are in Australia for the first time. Once again, show manager/secretary Pamela Lanigan had to plan her setup very carefully to accommodate the lack of tables, but a growing number of owner cages meant that a smaller number of the heavy triple cages were needed. The show appeared to run very smoothly, but as everyone who has ever been involved in running a show knows, there is always lots of activity going on in the background to make sure that the judges and exhibitors are looked after. As usual, Pamela and her team did a great job. Supreme in both Ring 1 and Ring 2 went to Siamese kitten Suntra Ling Lek owned by Rod Pattinson.

Thankyou Oz-Pet for your support

Oz-Pet is sponsoring all FCCW A shows in 2012 by providing product as prizes.

To organise prizes, Show secretaries should contact Penny Kelly on 0412 277 113 or via email on michaelandpenny@westnet.com.au

For more than 40 years, Dr Don Nickels has been dedicated to the animals of Western Australia and to the veterinary profession. He has also been a huge supporter of FCCWA and many people would have been in contact with him as he provided vetting services at shows, at Cottesloe Veterinary Hospital or through his involvement in assessing cats in experimental breeding programs. Dr Nickels has now retired and FCCWA have sent him a letter of thanks and certificate of appreciation.

We wish Dr Nickels all the best for his retirement.

Krispy Kremes are coming back!

Earlier this year FCCWA ran a small fundraising campaign selling Krispy Kreme doughnuts. Very few people were asked to participate as we wanted to test out the process and see whether they would sell.

We had an enthusiastic response and so have decided to run another campaign, and will have Krispy Kremes delivered fresh to the show that is scheduled for 21 October 2012.

If every member sold one box to family or friends, we would have a very successful fundraiser which would boost FCCWA's capacity to offer more services to members.

Watch out for more information as the date gets closer.

ACF National Cat Show—Melbourne

The 2012 ACF National Show was held at the Melbourne Showgrounds on June 10. This 40th anniversary show was organised by a team with members from all over Australia including our own Carole Galli (sponsorship coordinator) and Pamela Lanigan (website). Show Manager was Lesley Morgan from Tasmania and Show Secretary was Robbie Walker from Queensland.

A strong contingent of FCCWA members headed east to participate in the show including Pamela Lanigan, Carole Galli, Penny Kelly, Lynne Moorman, Lee-Anne Pitman Pryde, Sue Game and Linda Horton. Many of the FCCWA members took cats and/or assisted in the show as stewards or scribes. There were also a number of COAWA members there and it was great to see such a large and enthusiastic group from Western Australia.

The show itself was three rings and there were 415 entries. The show committee had done a great job in publicising the event and so on the day, hundreds of people flocked to the show-ground to see the wide range of cats that were on show, especially one large Maine Coon that had captured the attention of the media.

Most of the results were announced as the day wore on, but the final placings were determined by panels of judges. Each finalist was brought before three judges who voted to decide the best in that group.

As the judging panel narrowed down the results, it was thrilling to see a West Australian Russian Blue win Supreme All Breeds Exhibit! A fantastic and well deserved result for Lucy Nikiforos (COAWA). Congratulations also go to Nick Skeet (COAWA) whose brown Burmese kitten won best group 3 kitten in show

Full show results can be found at <http://acf2012.breedsite.com/results/>

At 2 years of age "Rupert" weights 9kg and still has some growing to do. He is so big that it was hard to see FCCWA member Sue Game as she "stewarded" him to the judges bench.

Aging Gracefully

My marvellous Odd Eyed White Persian is now 17 1/2 years old. Her name is Tuam Odds n Ends. She came from Kathy Scalan's cattery, Tuam (QLD), and is from Dbl Gd Ch Martes Concerto (3) and Dbl Gd Ch Tuam Centrefold (OEW). I did not buy her as a show cat and she is always indoors. By my side, in fact, as much as possible. Odds seems to derive all she wants in life from our companionship and food.

She was named Odds n Ends by me because of her eye colour. Both eyes retain a good blue and orange. Odds still has a full coat, though not as heavy as when she was younger. She needs constant grooming and bathing (which she enjoys). She is not deaf and has fair eye site. Odds biggest problem is from a stroke she had five years ago. As a result she can't hold her head properly so she sees things slightly askew. This gives some moderate problems with drinking and eating while walking is a zigzag affair.

Her biggest problem is jumping (she probably can't see and judge where to go) and jumping is confined to an upholstered couch and chairs plus my bed. She manages the 19 stairs in my house in her own fashion.

Odds n Ends has a definite schedule, which is run by sunlight, for her requirements of food, water or attention. All these are met by mother. There or are no mews or vocal requests. A sweet look is all that is needed. (unlike my Bengal, Lots a Dots, who loudly tells me what she expects & now!) Routine and timing are very precise--who needs a watch?

The contrast between a Persian and Bengal is amazing. When my Bengal, Nanlow Lots a Dots, arrived 10 years ago she was not top cat. She still isn't and the challenge is always on. Odds has dominance over food, where she sits, where she sleeps on my bed, and especially who gets to sit nearest to me. She is loosing somewhat in the chase and now sometimes being chased rather than being the chaser. She goes at considerate speed considering her age.

Both communicate with me--Odds by looks and body language, Lots by verbally yelling and pacing around.

It has been a rewarding life with both of my little friends. I will miss Odds when she dies as she is my companion cat, always with me (shower, toilet, meal times, sleep times--all times)

We never know when we get a new kitten what rewards await us. Unfortunately we do know there will be an end. I have enjoyed our relationship for what it gives both of us.

Cat Act 2011 Update

A committee convened by the Minister for Local Government's Office is working on a set of draft instructions and regulations which will determine how the Cat Act operates. There are a large number of issues to consider, not least of which is how the Act will be funded. Some of you may have seen in the news that the Minister for Local Government has announced that the State Government will allocate more than $3 million to help implement the cat legislation. This will largely be used to fund the created of cat management facilities (essentially cat pounds).

The committee will consult with each group that is impacted by the legislation and these will include local councils, rescue organisations, vets, microchip implanters and breeders. Although initially it was hoped that this process would be over by now, other government issues have taken priority and slowed things down. At this stage it seems most likely that any further discussions will not take place until September/October.

However, we are constantly being reassured that there will be provisions in the regulations to recognise breeders and other participants in the Cat Fancy and there will be accommodations to allow us to continue with our hobby. When the Act finally comes into play, all Councils will review their policies to make sure they are in line with the state legislation. Our understanding is that where people who are not members of a prescribed organisation have more cats than are allowed, they will be encouraged to register their cats and will be granted permits to have the additional cats on the understanding that they will not be replaced. It is hoped that members of prescribed organisations will have expanded capacity but at this stage we don't know what this will look like. There is no intent that Council Rangers will go in and seize people's existing cats and if you are experiencing any issues relating to the legislation it would be worth approaching Governing Council, or contacting the Minister for Local Government's Office directly to check.

FCCWA Governing Council has endorsed a subcommittee consisting of Mark Garden, Kirsty Connell and Linda Horton. The subcommittee has met with representatives from COAWA and ANCATS and will continue to work together and give a consistent response once the regulations are available for input. This will have impact on everyone. If you wish to know more or want some input into the process, please speak to members of your Governing Council or the subcommittee.

Are there really big monster cats around that eat you for dinner ?

Some of the features of the Cat Bill that will directly impact FCCWA members were listed in the previous Cat Calls, but it is worth just highlighting them again:
Most of these provisions will be detailed in supporting regulations and will come into force November 2012 and November 2013. You can find a copy of the Act at <http://www.parliament.wa.gov.au>

All cats over the age of 6 months must be registered with the Local Government in the area that they live.

All cats must wear registration tags in a public place unless they belong to a class of cats who are exempt.

All cats over the age of 6 months old must be microchipped

All cats over the age of 6 months old must be sterilised unless they are exempt. A cat that is kept for the purposes of breeding is exempt

A person is not permitted to transfer ownership of a cat that is not sterilised unless the purchaser is an approved breeder. The cat must also be microchipped. If the cat is less than 6 months old, it may be transferred unsterilised provided that a voucher for sterilisation is part of the transfer.

Within 7 days after the transfer of a cat, the seller must notify the local government and microchip data base of the change

Only approved breeders may breed cats.

A breeder may apply to their Local Government for approval to breed cats.

Clause 37 (5).states that a local government may not refuse to grant or renew an approval to breed cats if the applicant belongs to a class of persons prescribed

VETTING IN

We all know that excellent presentation of your cat for the judge is of the utmost importance at a cat show. This standard should be no different for the vet, whom is judging your cat very strictly on its health and vitality.

This article is by no means aimed to pick at particular owners or breeds, but rather makes comment on some generalizations I have noted in my career as a veterinarian both involved in vetting in shows, but also as a breeder/exhibiter.

The role of the veterinarian at any show, be it in-line or in-cage vetting is to thoroughly examine your animals for any signs of disease, particularly contagious disease, that can be spread easily in the show environment. Common contagious diseases include (but are not limited to) cat flu, fleas, ringworm and ear mites.

Please note, that if a veterinarian has even the slightest suspicion of any problem, and deems your cat a risk to other animals, it should be removed from the premises without fuss and upset. That diagnosis is based on observations at the time of the examination, and further diagnostics may well be required to substantiate further. It is unlikely though, that these diagnostic tests can be performed at the show venue. Regardless of whether the vet's diagnosis on the day is correct or not, if a vet deems that cat unfit for the show it must be removed. The veterinarian is doing their best to protect your animals from acquiring contagious diseases. Ultimately the responsibility lies with the exhibiter, to bring only healthy cats to the show in the first place.

Below I will outline some characteristics of the common contagious diseases that could be easily spread at a show, followed by what I look for when examining for 'vetting in'.

COMMON CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

CAT FLU

The disease 'cat flu' comprises a number of viruses and bacteria, each contributing to various clinical signs of disease. Cats may be affected by one or several of the disease causing agents, in addition to secondary bacterial infection. The clinical signs of cat flu include; sneezing, snuffles, nasal discharge, pneumonia, conjunctivitis, watery eyes, gum disease and gingivitis (often with very healthy looking teeth), tongue ulcerations, appetite loss and weight loss, fever and abortion in queens. More troublesome, is that a cat may have cat flu, and be capable of spreading cat flu, without having clinical signs themselves. It is impossible to tell which cats are carriers on the day of a cat show. If any of your cats have shown any of the signs mentioned above, particularly on a recurrent basis, it would be extremely wise not to show that individual, as it may be a carrier. Cat flu is highly contagious, even if the cat is not showing clinical signs of disease.

FLEAS

Fleas will usually be very obvious to the exhibiter during show preparation, evident as the insects themselves, or their droppings/flea dirt (tiny black particles of dried blood faeces). Fleas are able to jump incredible distances in relation to their tiny body size, and so can be highly contagious in a show environment. They can however be easily controlled using long acting preventative products such as "Frontline", "Advantage", "Revolution" or "Advocate", in addition to shorter acting products such as "Capstar". Even the act of bathing may be helpful, but be cautious of flea shampoos and powders. Cats are highly sensitive to the chemicals designed to kill fleas, so always be certain to use products specifically designed for cats, rather than smaller amounts of dog designed products.

RINGWORM

Ringworm is a highly contagious disease caused by several species of fungi. It can be very persistent and very difficult to manage in multi-cat facilities, especially in long-haired cats. It is transmitted via fungal spores, (tiny encapsulated reproductive particles) which can spread from animal to animal, or from environmental objects (eg. bowls, bedding etc). Clinical signs of ringworm in cats may be varied, but can include; poor hair coat, patches of baldness or classic circular bald spots. These areas may be scaly, crusty, dry, red or itchy. Some cats may show no clinical signs, but can be capable of spreading the fungus. These cats would be impossible to detect at a cat show. It would be unwise to bring your seemingly healthy cat to a show if any of your other cats have lesions. Humans and other animals can also be affected. Ringworm will often resolve on its own, however medical treatment can hasten the recovery and reduce environmental infection.

EAR MITES

Ear mites are tiny inhabitants of the external ear canal and sometimes neck, rump and tail. They create intensely itchy ears, often with excessive waxy discharge, or thick scaly crusts within the ear canal. Because they are easily spread, and persist in the environment, it is important to treat the environment and other in contact cats.

WHAT THE VETS ARE LOOKING FOR

EYES

Eyes should be wide, and show no evidence of squinting. There should be no discharge, and no redness to the conjunctiva (membranes around the eyes).

EARS

Ears should be clean and free of any waxy discharge and dirt. It can be normal to have a small amount of brownish coloured wax, but good grooming practices should see this removed during preliminary show preparation. If you are constantly having to clean a lot of 'muck' from your cats ears, it is likely there is a problem such as ear mites or a bacterial or yeast infection.

MOUTH

A vet would expect a cats teeth to be bright white and clean looking. I have noted some cats to have a significant build up of plaque and tartar, often contributing to gingivitis. This is of minimal concern when showing a cat, but it is beneficial for your cats health to have a clean healthy mouth. However, moderate to severe gingivitis with otherwise clean looking teeth may be caused viruses and can be very difficult to treat. These viruses may also cause tongue ulcerations, so pay close attention to your cats mouth, particularly if the teeth look fine, and have any problems addressed by your veterinarian.

NOSE

Nose should be clean and free from discharge or crustings. Watery noses may be suggestive of cat flu.

BODY

Body condition, should be appropriate to breed and type, but should show evidence of good musculature and health. Cats should be well covered and not boney.

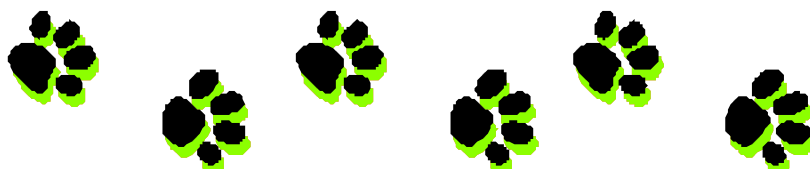

COAT

Coat is very variable among breeds but should show evidence of health and vitality. Dry coarse coats may be indicative of ill health. Patchy or moth-eaten coats, bald or sparsely haired areas or red or scaly skin is suggestive of skin disease. Coats should be free from evidence of fleas and flea dirt.

It is understandable that you may not have had time to perfectly present your cat by the time it is vetted in. It is also understandable that some cats do not tolerate the stress of travel very well, and may be slobbery or have had an 'accident' on the way to the show. Bearing these things in mind however, to best show your cats' health, it ought to be clean and tidy before presentation to the vet. Having rolled in dirt in the cat run or garden could look like flea dirt. An excess of normal wax in ears could be interpreted as ear mites. Typically watery Persian or Exotic eyes and nose look very similar to a cat with cat flu. So have your cat as clean, tidy and well presented as possible, before arriving to the show venue.

I hope it has become apparent how contagious the previously mentioned diseases can be, made worse by the fact than most of them can be spread by animals that are not even showing clinical signs. Even if the animal entered in the show is not showing signs of being ill, they could be vessels for disease transmission. Do not show your cat if any other individuals have been sick, unless instructed do so from your veterinarian. The show veterinarian does their best to protect all exhibitors cats from contagious diseases, but it is the exhibitor that should be responsible for bringing only healthy cats to the venue.
