A little bit about how things work

If you are new to showing you might find this all a bit confusing. Don't worry; you will get the hang of it in no time. Just remember that the cats and kittens compete in steps.

Firstly you need to know about how the exhibits are grouped in a show. At CatsWA we group them into three groups, One, Two and Three. Different breeds belong to different groups. Companion Pets are in group Four.

Then we separate the groups into sections. These are kittens, entire adults and desexed adults.

Step one

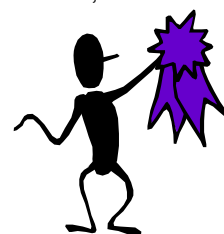

Firstly the exhibits are judged against other exhibits that are the same as them. This means the same group, section, breed, colour & pattern and sex. So if there are three blue and white British Shorthair female kittens under 9 months the judge will choose between them for the best one. This is called a class. Some cats and kittens compete in colour groupings. This means they are grouped into a higher level such as agouti (tabby), non-agouti and white etc. Maine Coons are an example of a breed that competes in this way.

Step Two

Next is Best of Breed in Section. This is not included in all shows but when it is the best exhibits of the same breed in a section compete together for a placing for that breed. So for example the best blue male British Shorthair entire adult will compete with the best blue female British Shorthair entire adult, the best black and white female British Shorthair entire adult and the best chocolate male British Shorthair entire adult for overall Best British Shorthair Entire Adult. Sometimes there can also be best of breed in show which is the best out of adult, desex and kitten.

Step Three

The cats and kittens in a section compete against each other for a special placing or a top placing. Sometimes called top ten or top five. The judge picks their best exhibits from these sections and ranks them as per the number of placings for the section. Often this is roughly one placing for every three exhibits competing.

Step Four

The next step is the best in show. This is generally called Supreme. This is the cat judged as the best out of all the cats in the ring. If more than one judge is judging in a ring they get together and decide their best collaboratively or, depending on the judges qualification, one judge may be asked to pick from the others judges choices or another different judge altogether may pick from all of the judges choices.

This is a very simple guide to shows and you will find the more you show that each club and association do things differently.
